Our Treatment Philosophy

Different medical conditions call for independent approaches to treatment and rehabilitation. At our Centennial Hills rehab hospital, we work to create a unique treatment plan that takes your goals and medical history into account. Depending on your needs and condition, treatment may include physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, respiratory therapy, pain management, nutritional management, wound care, and other strategies.

At PAM Health Rehabilitation Hospital of Centennial Hills, we believe that early and aggressive intervention lays the foundation for lasting results. That is why our patients spend multiple hours a day engaged in one-on-one therapy with highly trained medical staff members. Compared to lower levels of care, such as treatment in a skilled nursing facility, care in an acute rehabilitation hospital prevents hospital readmissions and maximizes functional recovery in the long term.

Support From a Team of Caring Medical Specialists

The medical team at our post-acute care hospital in Centennial Hills works hard to provide the personalized attention you need to reach your goals. When you choose our hospital, you will have the opportunity to work with physical therapists, disease specialists, speech language pathologists, occupational therapists, and compassionate registered nurses. A Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation physician oversees the rehab program to ensure you receive high-quality care every step of the way.

We have physicians available 24/7, so there will always be a qualified professional around to provide care and support.
